

my lovely umi,

(can you believe we are celebrating 11 months (i can but i cant believe how time flew) but i am so happy to have spent the past 11 months with you hehe, i wouldn't want it any other way. i know that sometimes i can be a little crazy and silly, but you never make me feel that way. you have shown me nothing but patience and love... and you love me just as i am: i also love you so much and just as you are, which i find perfect. i know things have not been easy by any means, but what i also know is that we have each other, every step of the way... having you has made everything seem a little lighter, a little less daunting. i always have to make you feel that way too... and i'll always do everything i can to. i thought about it lots as of late, and having someone i can finally trust so deeply is foreign, but without a doubt the warmest + feeling and all i could ever ask for. i also feel your love and trust in me too, and it makes me feel butterflies sometimes knowing such a beautiful, kind, understanding person like you loves me so much. i am so so lucky you're mine... and i want to be yours for the rest of eternity. thank you for all that you do for me, and i'll always do everything i can for you.. happy 11 months going on forever... and here is to our sandiego home--- i love you..., your nimi
